

Some of you may have been having problems access the Herts ASA website, this is due to an issue with our hosting company. We have taken the decision to move the website to a new hosting provider, however this can take up to 48 hours to come into effect, due to the unreliability we were forced into making the move close to the County Championships. The good news is if you are reading this on the Herts Website then you are accessing via the new provider.
